

We hear, via the air waves, that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has resigned his position as a member of the Reserve Air Force in the U.S.A., so now he will be just plain Lindy again and we might suggest that, if he is desirous of keeping his name before the public, he might change the L. to W. as he would stand more chance of being remembered as Windy. —W. ## George Brown to Leave For Lacombe

Has Been Here For Twenty Years; Mrs. Brown and Family to Remain Here For Present.

Coleman is about to lose one of its leading and respected citizens in the person of George Brown, who expects to leave next week for Lacombe, where he will take over the duties of cashier at the C.P.R. depot. Mrs. Brown and daughter Olive will remain in Coleman until Mr. Brown finds accommodation at Lacombe.

He came here around 1920 from Champion, having previously been in the general offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Calgary. He fought in the Great War No. 1, having joined the 191st Battalion at Calgary, and served overseas with the 50th battalion in 1916. Following the war he returned to Champion and shortly thereafter came to Coleman with Mrs. Brown and daughter Olive.

During his residence in Coleman he has been a loyal member of the Coleman Elks lodge. He joined the lodge in 1925 and following its re-organization six years ago has been secretary. His leadership at the lodge's annual carnival is going to be sorely missed, as his long experience at affairs of its kind resulted in the carnival's functioning smoothly. In addition to being an Elk he is also a member of the local branch of the Canadian Legion. A number of years ago he was very active in scout activities and held the rank of scoutmaster.

Mr. Cole Explains New Theatre Tax

"Contrary to public opinion—the 20% federal tax is not to be added to the old standards of admission, but is a tax of 20% on the admission price to a theatre. In other words if you are now paying 45c admission the tax is 9c federal, plus a provincial tax of 5c, a total of 14 cents, leaving the theatre 31 cents. This amounts to a tax of 45% on each admission. Truly this is a staggering tax and in the words of Mr. Hanson, Conservative leader, "it may force most of the smaller theatres in Canada to close up."

The tax has been withdrawn for the present; and will probably be reduced somewhat before being put back on later in the month. Theatre admissions are back at the old price until this matter is straightened away.

Theatre Notes

Santa Fee Trail starring Errol Flynn and Olivia DeHavilland is the main feature at the Palace at the week-end. At the end of steel was where the Santa Fee trail began. It tells of how a small force of the guardians of the law overcame the lawlessness of the wild west.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, Gloria Jean comes to the screen in "Little Bit of Heaven." The same sterling cast that was with her in "The Under Pup" is again with her. Among the four hits sung by Gloria is the ever popular favorite "A Little Bit of Heaven." Heading the supporting cast is humorous Robert Stack and Hugh Herbert.

At Cole's theatre, Bellevue, this week-end is Gary Cooper in "The Great Westerner." In it you see Lily Langtry in her triumphant tour of the old west, settlers riding for their lives as homes and crops roar up in flames. A sensational drama based on a story of jealous feud and flaming love.

Punch—"Goring" says a neutral observer, "is growing more and more like his caricatures." Alarmed caricaturists are spurring themselves to greater efforts.

VOLUME 20, No. 4. THE JOURNAL, COLEMAN, ALBERTA. THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1941. $2.00 Per Year; Single Copy 5c.

Dear Sir:

We acknowledge your letter of the 28th regarding poor radio reception in Coleman. Due to the reduction in our appropriation for interference work, we are unable to make a special visit, but our inspector will check Coleman on his next regular visit to that district.

Yours respectfully,
R. AINSLIE,
Supervising Radio Inspector.

Ed's Note — The above letter is in reply to council's request that a trouble shooter be sent here and endeavor to clean up the interference which has caused a great deal of discontent among local radio listeners, and who finally took their complaints to the council to see if it could get action from the proper radio authorities.

Local Red Cross Society to be Re-Organized

Attendance at Meetings Poor; Local Organizations Will be Asked to Re-appoint Their Representatives

Attendance at the Red Cross meetings is very poor. On Monday evening only five persons turned up and as a result the meeting was postponed till next Monday at 8 p.m.

President Wilfred Dutil has voiced his intention of reorganizing the local society. A letter will be sent to every local organization asking if it is being represented at the Red Cross meetings, and if not that a representative be appointed attend the meetings regularly.

At the meeting next Monday plans for the second annual dance to be held on May 23 will be made. Miss Yail's junior Red Cross members are now busy selling tickets.

The Churches

T. PAUL'S UNITED CHURCH
Coleman

Minister: J. E. Kirk.

"Mothers Day"—Sunday, May 11 11 a.m.—"Mother's Day Service" for both the church congregation and the Sunday school. A special program prepared by the Religious Education Council of Alberta will be used, and a number of the older scholars of the Sunday school will have parts in the program.

There will be a Children's Baptismal service. A flower will be presented to each mother and grandmother.

6.45 p.m.—Song service.
7 p.m.—evening service. Subject: "A Mother's Petition."

You are cordially invited to attend the "Mother's Day Services."

Rev. R. Erskine Pow of Pincher Creek officiated very acceptably at both anniversary services at St. Paul's United Church last Sunday. In the morning the large congregation were pleased to hear again Airman Ivan Kaufman of Calgary as he sang very masterfully "The Lord's Prayer." Our own church choir assisted very materially at the morning service as usual.

The anniversary supper was quite well patronized at the church club room Monday evening, and a very sumptuous and delicious dinner was served. Many compliments were passed along to members of the Ladies' Aid and other ladies who served so efficiently, and to all the ladies of the congregation who provided such tasty foods generously.

Rev. J. E. Kirk of St. Paul's United Church supplied Pincher Creek last Sunday to relieve Rev. R. Erskine Pow so that he could be at Coleman for the anniversary services.

School Board Asks Council For $44,000; Estimates $4,000 Higher Than Last Year

School Mill Rate Remains At 23; To Fix Portions of Third and Fourth Streets For Hard Surface.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Tuesday evening. Present: Mayor Antrobus, Councilors Abousafy, Balloch, Dutil, Ford, Jenkins and Kerr.

O. Bombien gave a detailed explanation of how the water drainage around his property on Third street was causing damage to his basement and cess-pool. Council at its last meeting had decided to have the grader take approximately eight inches of a grade away from the front of Mr. Bombien's residence and so endeavor to improve drainage. He was also promised that council would inspect the rear of his residence and see if the drainage at that point could be improved. Council refused his request to clean out cess-pool.

Sam Malanek asked that council either find him employment or give him relief. It was recommended that he be placed on the 3-way relief plan. Malanek was granted permission to work off his current taxes on town projects.

Capt. F. Watson, of the Salvation Army, stated he contemplated building a new hall. He had arranged with Charles Sartoris to purchase the two corner lots immediately east of Sartoris' Lumber yard on Main street. As is known the creek cuts off a slice of these lots and Captain Watson asked if council would be agreeable to divert the creek in such a manner that more ground would be available for building. Captain Watson told the council that he had not yet approached Army headquarters regarding building the hall, he was only endeavoring to see if council would help in diverting the creek so that he could inform headquarters that a building location was available. Council advised the captain that it would inspect the proposed changes before giving him a final answer.

The early closing by-law was authorized published in The Journal for three consecutive issues. According to Sam Bannan, solicitor, fines for infractions against the by-law will revert to the town treasury and not to the provincial coffers.

Mr. Ainslie, supervising radio inspector, in replying to council's request that a trouble-shooter be sent to Coleman, stated that he was unable to send one at the present time. His letter appears elsewhere on this page.

The medical health officer's report revealed that an epidemic of German measles had occurred last month. A number of suspected T.B. cases had been examined by the travelling clinic which visited Coleman two weeks ago. The reports on those examinations had not yet been received. His recommendation that drinking water samples be sent twice monthly to Edmonton for analysis was acted upon by the council who immediately authorized Constable Antle to attend to this matter.

The school board sent in an estimate for current expense during the next fiscal year totalling $44,000. This is $4,000 higher than last year. Miss Lee, who is also school secretary, informed the council that the assessed value of properties within the school district had increased during the past year. She stated that the assessment rate for last year, 23 mills, would be sufficient to raise the required amount this year. Council then set 23 mills as the 1941 assessment rate for school purposes.

Council will ask Mr. Bradley, highway superintendent, for the use of the government grader when the hardsurfacing of certain residential streets is started. Works and Property committee was authorized to inspect the roadway from A. Dewar's to Pryde's corner and get it in shape for hardsurfacing. Works and Property was also authorized to inspect ditches at the post office and Zak's corners on Main street, the ditch in front of the Gillies and Nash residences, the corner at Neil Fleming, Jr., residence on Fourth street, and the roadway leading to the J. J. McIntyre residence.

Water has been turned on at the cemeteries. Councillor Dutil stated he had several large barrels it could have should they be required for the cemeteries in order to store up a greater quantity of water.

Council approved an amendment to the traffic vehicles by-law making it compulsory for all motor vehicles to go around the corners at various intersections. Constable Antle was authorized to enforce this amendment.

Five Applications Received For Air Force on Wednesday

Flying Officer Gordon Nurcombe and Corporal Lee, recruiting officers for the R.C.A.F., were in the Pass this week and visited Coleman on Wednesday morning, where they received five applications for enlistment.

Their qualifications were taken and they will be notified as to their acceptance. The recruiting officers decided to come back Wednesday evening and take applications at the Legion club from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Flying Officer Nurcombe stated that approximately 100 Pass men had applied for entrance into the Force. He thought it was likely a medical officer might accompany them on the next trip.

IRONSIDE & PARK INSTALL NEW MACHINERY

New machinery comprising a washer, high pressure filter, extractor and drying tumbler, is being installed at Ironside & Park's dry cleaning plant on Main street. Cost is estimated at $2,000. Mr. Park, assisted by carpenter Bill Dunkley, is installing the machinery.

Larry Dunkley has succeeded Tom Kropnik as truck driver, the latter having secured employment at one of the local mines.

George Jenkins Elected President of Tennis Club

Muriel Naylor Elected Secretary; Fees Set; Special Rules for Students.

Coleman tennis club held its annual meeting on Sunday morning to elect officers, as follows: George Jenkins, president; R. Shone, vice-president; Muriel Naylor, secretary-treasurer.

Fees were set at $5.00 for senior membership, $3.00 for high school students, and $2.00 for public school.

The financial statement presented by Bill Balloch, secretary-treasurer for the past few years, showed the club having a surplus with which to buy equipment for the coming season.

Courts are regularly being put in shape and several members have enjoyed tennis for several weeks. It is the desire of the new officials to get as large a membership as possible and to sponsor a number of club tournaments to keep interest at a high pitch.

Miss M. H. C. Claxton and Mrs. K. Milley attended the Wings Presentation of Australian and R.C.A.F. pilots on Monday at No. 7, S.T.S. Macleod. Most of the graduating class left for the east on Wednesday afternoon, expecting to proceed overseas. The Australians spoke very appreciatively of the kindness of Coleman people during their visits here.

MOTHER'S DAY NEXT SUNDAY

All mothers of Coleman will be interested to know that special services will be held in their honor at The Salvation Army hall in Coleman, May 11. Mothers are especially invited to attend the service at 3, when the children of the Sunday school will take a prominent part.

Captain Watson has arranged that the oldest mother present will receive a special gift. The mother with the greatest number of children present will also be honored in this way. Each mother present will be given a small remembrance of the occasion.

A hearty welcome will be given to all mothers who attend this service on Sunday.

GRAND UNION HOTEL PLANTS TREES IN PARKING LOT

Lorenzo "Sonny" Richards, manager of the Grand Union hotel, has planted eighteen Russian poplar trees along both sides of the hotel parking lot. The trees are in bud and should be in full leaf within the next week. Sonny hopes to make this a real beauty spot and should the trees be left to grow his hopes will be realized.

OMITTED

Through an oversight the $3.00 donation of Jim Evans to the May Day celebration was omitted from the published list in last week's issue.

PASS BOYS FETTERED IN WELSH TOWN

Francis (Frenchy) Marconi in company with one of the Rees boys of Blairmore recently visited a relative of the latter in a Welsh town. Mr. Rees, in a letter to his parents, stated they were given a royal welcome by the local citizens, and enjoyed their visit very much.

Approaches to Cemeteries Need Repairing

Water Turned On Last Monday; Hope to Send Laborers to Rake and Take Out Weeds.

Approaches to the Catholic and Union cemeteries are at the present time in poor condition. The main road leading from Sixth street to the top of the hill has several large rocks lying loose on it which might prove dangerous to a nervous driver. In addition running water from thawing ice and snow has caused a number of shallow conditions. Loose sand and small gravel to appear in the roadway. Sand and rock have filled in the ditch which was once located on the right hand side going up towards the cemeteries. The roadway leading from the flat to the Union cemetery is in very poor condition. Large stones and small gravel in addition to sharp boulders in the roadbed make it imperative that some improvement be made to this road. Raking will not fill the bill. What is needed is a compact covering over the gravel, something that will not be blown away by the wind.

Improvement of the two cemeteries has been discussed from time to time by the council and last year relief recipients were sent to rake up loose rocks and fill in the gravel. Chairman of the works and property committee Jim Kerr stated Tuesday morning that it was very probable that this would again be done.

A few years ago the congregation of Holy Ghost church took upon itself to clean up the Catholic cemetery and made a very good job of it.

The water to both cemeteries was turned on Monday and some new pipes were laid to replace the old.

Miners Hockey Draw Comes to Life

Sometime ago Miners hockey club started out to sell tickets on a draw, proceeds of which would go toward clearing off its financial obligations. Prizes were to be $25 and $10 war savings certificates.

The first week saw several of the team members selling a number of tickets but they soon lost interest when others failed to do so. Their efforts were so extensive that no tickets have been sold for many weeks. Angelo Gentile, team manager, will take action this week-end. He will try and get as many tickets sold as possible and make the draw probably next week, the funds available.

He asks that team members contact him Friday evening so that he may be informed of the number of tickets they still have on hand.

MAKES BID TO INCREASE SOFT DRINK SALES

Mark Sartoris, proprietor of Crows Nest Bottling Works, is making a grand bid to increase his soft drink sales throughout southern Alberta. At the present time he is advertising extensively in the weekly papers of southern Alberta and is getting the occasional free reader which tells the consumer how good the soft drinks are. Mr. Sartoris is willing to meet any competition in Canada and it is no wonder that his fine product can now be obtained at restaurants, cafes, etc., throughout the south country.

Conservation For Victory

News items appearing recently in the daily press appear to indicate that there was justification for the action of the federal government in devising measures for exercising some degree of supervision over the oil industry of the Dominion after the war broke out.

The importance of oil in the war economy can scarcely be over-emphasized. It must have occurred by this time to everybody that oil is the life-blood of the type of warfare which is now being waged by the belligerents on both sides. The availability of oil for fuel to drive aeroplanes and tanks and propel submarines and warships may well be the ultimate factor that will decide the outcome of the war.

There is no gaining saying the fact that the urgent need of oil is ever present in the minds of the enemy and that this necessity is largely behind the moves that Hitler is making on the European continent. It is true that the Germans know how to make synthetic liquid fuel and that they are doing so to an increasing degree because, at present at least, they are unable to secure nearly enough in the cheaper and more readily handled natural form, for the requirements of their war machine.

While it is true that the British and their friends control the great bulk of the world's supply of oil as it comes from the ground, it is imperative that sources of supply within the Empire be developed and conserved to the utmost degree with the thought in mind that every gallon that can be husbanded may play its part in the final and decisive battle of this conflict.

A Costly Process

A recent despatch from Washington referred to the success of experiments which have been undertaken by the U.S. federal bureau of mines to convert coal into gasoline and as a result it was stated that there is sufficient gasoline from this source to supply the nation's needs for 3,000 years, but, from experience in Germany and England, it has been demonstrated that the hydrogenization process of extracting gasoline from coal is considerably greater than through the use of crude petroleum.

As is well known there are enormous supplies of coal in the ground in Western Canada, particularly in Alberta and Saskatchewan, from which undoubtedly huge quantities of gasoline could be extracted, at a price. But to secure motor fuel for either war purposes or commercial use from this source, would not only entail considerable delay in setting up plants and producing machinery to handle the process but would entail such expense as to constitute an economic waste, as long as crude petroleum can be drawn from beneath the earth's crust.

Because of this and because of the increasingly important role which gasoline must play in the drive to victory, as well as the possibility of some of the British sources of supply falling into Nazi hands before the tide turns, the importance of conservation of all Empire sources of gasoline, in Western Canada, or elsewhere can scarcely be stressed too much.

Stop The Waste

When this fact is realized it seems an anomaly that G. R. Cottrill, the Dominion oil controller should have to find it necessary to issue a public warning that waste of gas, which is used in the Turner Valley fields of Alberta to lift the crude, must be stopped. The warning was inspired by the fact that the destruction of natural gas in the field by allowing it to burn in the air, is not only reducing the cheap power necessary to drive the crude oil to the surface, but, as he pointed out, "Not only is energy being wasted but the gas burned contains gasoline."

The reason which makes the stoppage of this waste highly necessary also makes it essential that existing fields of crude petroleum be developed to their maximum capacity and potential new fields explored.

Despite a rapid increase in production in the Turner Valley field of Alberta in the past few years, production is not sufficient to meet the consumptive demand of Western Canada. During 1940 Western Canada produced 8,184,862 barrels of crude oil and a recent survey showed that western provinces alone consumed 10,934,896 barrels, or nearly three million barrels more than were required for the home market, without taking into consideration potential war requirements farther afield.

This means, in effect, that last year American dollars had to be purchased to supply three million barrels of gasoline for Western Canadian consumption, entailing not only the loss of the rate of exchange as between the Canadian and American dollar but also dissipation of Canadian exchange which is needed in other directions for the war effort.

As long as this situation exists, with conservation of oil and Canadian exchange paramount requisites in our war economy, governmental control is not only advisable but it is imperative.

Industry Disappearing

In Canada, as in the United States, horsehoes are gradually disappearing as a rural industry. National registration figures just released at Ottawa show that 12,498 men claimed blacksmithing as their occupation. This was one of the very few trades in which not a single woman was registered.

Discipline For Pilot

Acting upon a complaint of Navy Secretary Knox, the civil aeronautics board moved to discipline an airplane pilot who flew a New York Daily News photographer over the British battleship Malaya as it came into New York harbor for repairs recently.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

Buck it up right now and feel like a million!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, supplies new energy, allows proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headache, backache, dizzy, dragged out all the time. For over 35 years thousands have won prompt relief from these miserable "rotten" fruit-atives. So can you now. Try Fruit-atives—it will be simply delighted how quickly you'll feel like a new person, happy and well again. 25c. 50c. FRUIT-ATIVES Largest Selling Liver Tonic

Cheese Shipments

To Curtail Shipments Of Cheese From East To West

The Dairy Products Board has ordered that no shipments of cheese in quantities greater than 50 pounds must be made from Eastern to Western Canada. This order was published in the Canada Gazette, April 10, 1941, and reads as follows:

"That no persons shall ship cheddar cheese (process cheese excluded) in quantities greater than 50 pounds from the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island to the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia, without authorization from the Dairy Products Board."

Applications for interprovincial cheese shipment must be made on forms which may be obtained from the Dairy Products Board, Ottawa, and must be submitted in triplicate for approval, unless otherwise arranged with the Board.

Quite Satisfactory

Prime Minister King told a questioner his press conference recently the government is satisfied that Canada is getting all the men needed for the armed forces under the system of voluntary enlistments.

People are funny. If they have a rich customer who never pays, they won't crack down on him for fear of losing his trade. 2410

Prayed For Enemies

Missionary Tells Of Service Led By China's Christian General

A Canadian missionary was invited to dine with the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek. After dinner, following an air raid, the guest was requested to remain and join them in their evening devotions. The Generalissimo read from the Scriptures and the three joined in prayer. This Canadian guest, writing of the Generalissimo's prayer, said, "I never expect to hear such a prayer again in all my life. He began with a simple expression of thanks for their personal safety. Then he added thanks for the courage of the nation under fire. Then he prayed for strength for the men in the field and along the firing lines; he prayed for strength for himself. But the most amazing thing in his prayer was a plea that God would help him and help China not to hate the Japanese people. He prayed for the Japanese Christians, and all the suffering multitudes of Japan whose impoverishment was making the war on China possible. He prayed for the people who are bombed, for forgiveness for those who dropped the bombs."

SELECTED RECIPES

RICE KRISPIE DREAM BARS

1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour

2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup Kellogg's rice krispies
1 cup chopped nut meats

Cream butter and sugar thoroughly. Add flour and blend well with fork or dough blender. Press mixture evenly and firmly into bottom of shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until delicately browned.

Beat eggs well, add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Drop by the spoonful on top of previously baked crust and spread evenly. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Cut into squares while still warm.

Yield: 40 bars (9 x 13-inch pan).

SPANISH EGGS

1 1/2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
6 eggs, poached
Crisp cooked bacon

6 Holland hucks

Sieve tomatoes, saute onion in butter until yellow. Stir in flour, then add tomatoes stirring until thickened. Season to taste. Simmer 15 minutes longer. Place an egg on each Holland huck (heated). Cover with tomato sauce and garnish with strip or crisp cooked bacon.

Took It With Her

A few days ago an elderly woman, wheeling a perambulator, approached a London air-raid depot. A time bomb had fallen in her yard, she said. The depot warden interrupted: "Stay away from there—I can't send a man over right away to look after it, but I'll do it soon."

"Oh, that's all right, there's no need to send a man," the woman countered, throwing back the coverlet of the perambulator. "I have the bomb right here. The warden nearly fainted."

The time required to see and realize a danger signal and begin to press on the automobile brake is about one-fifth of a second.

There are about 25,000 parts in one modern bombing plane.

Working Underground

Resistance To Nazis In Occupied Countries Is Rapidly Growing

Reports of unrest in Rumania give point to stories of widespread dissatisfaction with the Nazi conquerors in the occupied countries of Europe, a dissatisfaction which, although forced to work underground at present, is an ever-present and growing threat to the German hegemony over Europe.

Current History, reporting that travellers returning to the United States from the war zone bring confirmation of persistent rumors of this underground warfare against the Nazis, says that, "In Norway and elsewhere, especially, active resistance to the New Order is causing the Gestapo concern."

"In the 18th century," continues Current History, "when the Spaniards overran the Low Countries, the stubborn Netherlands formed a secret society named The Beggars to make life unendurable for their new masters. Last summer, the society of The Beggars—400 years extinct—was revived by during students from the Universities of Delft and Leiden. The tactics of the 20th century Beggars were those of modern underground warfare: sabotage, secret propaganda broadcasts, signalling the position of military objectives to enemy (British) planes, the assisting British agents. Their more colorful activities ranged from sniping from housetops and knifings in the dark to the poisoning of food and drink."

"Recently 16 Germans arrested 37 members of The Beggars, sent 18 before the firing squad and sentenced 19 to long prison terms, hoping thus to have smashed the society. But sabotage and signalling, knifings and poisonings continued. The mysterious leader of The Beggars, a certain 'Colonel Verdun', rumored to be a 43-year-old ex-army officer, remained at large and active."

"In Norway resistance to the Nazi conquerors and their Norwegian traitor friends is far more widespread. Sabotage is common. Daily demonstrations are organized against the regime of the Norwegian Nazi, Major Quisling, and his aides have frequently been attacked and beaten in out-of-the-way streets. Broadcasts from London and the United States have a considerable following in Norway, in spite of the harsh prison sentence that awaits anyone found guilty of listening."

Canadian Red Cross

Gives Immediate Assistance To Victims Of London's Worst Air Raid

Stunned victims of London's worst air raid received large quantities of food, clothing and blankets from the Canadian Red Cross immediately after the Nazi blitz ceased. The society's overseas commissioner, C. A. Scott, cabled Canadian headquarters: "One thousand civilians made homeless in a single borough found Canadian supplies ready for them as they emerged shocked and terrified from shelters and discovered the smoking ruins of their homes."

In the early hours of the morning officials called on the Canadian Red Cross for immediate assistance. Major Scott said in his cable, and within ten minutes clothing for men, women and children plus 1,500 blankets, were loaded into lorries and speeded into the disaster areas. The food included soups, stews, hash, cheese and jam. All other London boroughs affected by the raid also received Canadian assistance, the commissioner revealed.

"Thousands of parcels of food and clothing had been previously packed in preparation of such a blitz," he cabled.

Elsewhere in England affected areas promptly received supplies from the Canadian society and some eight thousand garments were distributed through the Women's Voluntary Services to suffering victims, Major Scott declared.

Bears Famous Name

At a telephone switchboard in London stands Volunteer Pamela Irving of the Auxiliary Territorial Service. One of the many girls in khaki to bear a distinguished name, she joined up at the outbreak of war. And in case there is any doubt as to who made that name famous, it need only be said that she is the great-granddaughter of the actor, Sir Henry Irving.

Smaller Convoys To Speed Up Traffic In Atlantic Crossings

London. An American informant said that British naval experts would like to apply a system of smaller, streamlined convoys possible only with "fuller United States co-operation" to protect Britain's seaborne supplies from the three-fold menace of surface raiders, submarines and warplanes.

Under this plan, the informant said, a small convoy of perhaps 10 ships could have the protection of a cruiser to fight off surface raiders, a pair of destroyers to cope with submarines and either its own planes or patrols from convenient bases to protect it from air attack.

Through classification of ships in such convoys according to speed, the Atlantic crossing could be expedited, it was said. Moreover, such small convoys could be unloaded and turned around in port to start for fresh cargo more quickly than the big convoys of 30 or more ships of varying speeds which up to now have been common.

Quick loading and departure is necessary to combat the steady German bombing of ports.

Britain already is seeking improvement in the convoy system as the result of the wider range of American neutrality patrols, now said officially to be operating 2,000 miles from American shores. British experts say that the shadowing of Axis raiders by American warships and patrol bombers is releasing British ships to strengthen convoys in more dangerous waters.

But, the informant said, Britain believes more positive aid is needed from the United States.

The real danger zone, it is explained, is in the "western approach," an area of water some 500 miles in circumference west of Ireland and south of Iceland, through which all main shipping bound for England must pass.

Many German submarines are reported to be in this Atlantic graveyard. They are based mostly on the French port of Lorient.

These waters are within range of patrol bombers from Newfoundland and Iceland but are almost too far from land for protection by fighter planes unless the latter are based on an aircraft carrier.

The American informant, who has good opportunities for an objective picture of the situation, described the British position at present as "pretty grim."

Rome. A joint German-Italian-Japanese commission created to carry out provisions of the three-power pact met last week, an official announcement said, to consider military, political and economic problems arising under the alliance.

Lord Beaverbrook Has Been Given Post As Minister Of State

London. Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born minister of aircraft production, was appointed to the new portfolio of minister of state in a move which observers believed would make him virtually deputy prime minister. The post is expected to make the noted newspaper publisher virtual dictator of Britain's production of war materials.

Announcement of the appointment said that Lord Beaverbrook had been relieved of his duties as minister of aircraft production.

This was taken to mean that he probably will assume general direction of economic phases of the war, freeing Prime Minister Churchill to devote his full time to military, naval, and diplomatic activities.

In such a role Lord Beaverbrook appeared to be the prime minister's answer to recent press criticism, particularly since the British withdrawals in Greece and Libya, that production of tanks and other vital war machines was lagging.

J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, former minister of transport, was appointed

Battle Of Dessie

A Thousand Italian Prisoners Taken As Well As Guns And Ammunition

Dessie, Ethiopia.—At dusk at least, 1,000 Italian prisoners crawled across the gorge beneath the shattered bridge of Dessie under the watchful stars of the South Africans who took this northeast Ethiopian stronghold after a 10-day battle.

The Italians, who themselves blew up the bridge in a last desperate effort to keep out the South Africans, were among 8,000 prisoners the Transvaal estimate were taken in the fierce thrust.

A handful of tall South Africans with fixed bayonets herded this tattered army down one side of the gorge and up the other amid thunderstorm. They were off on the first lap of the long trip to prison camps in Kenya, South Africa and India.

Italy's victory for Ethiopia, the Duke of Aosta, is not among them, however.

He left 40 trucks behind, but he himself made off towards Ambu Alagi in the one bomber the Italians still possessed, the victors related.

Twenty-two burned-out skeletons of Italian bombers and fighter planes lie among the ruins of the hangars at Kombolcha airfield and in the valley below Dessie.

The South Africans jested that 26 was their lucky number, they having taken Mogadishu, capital of Italian Somaliland, on Feb. 26, Harar on March 26 and Dessie on April 26.

The battle for Dessie began April 17 in the 10,000-foot mountains which engulf this region like a gigantic, rumpled quilt.

In a battle which the victors said was the fiercest of their entire campaign, they smashed in 10 days the positions which the Italians had counted on holding for at least three months.

The surrounding mountains are honeycombed with caves in which the Italians cached thousands of tons of food, fuel and ammunition. One British officer said the positions were so strong "I could have defended them with 65 baboons if given a week to train them."

The South Africans, outnumbered three to one in men and guns, opened with an intense artillery duel. For six days the cannon blazed away in a "little Somme." When it was over, the South Africans had taken 44 Italian guns and killed at least 400 men.

In four more days, Dessie had fallen and the remnants of Aosta's northern army was struggling eastward into the Ethiopian wilderness. South Africans lost less than 50 killed.

A Record Bag

New York. The British Broadcasting Corporation said that a record bag of 84 German night raiders were shot down over the British Isles during the month of April. This nearly doubled the previous record of 47 shot down over the isles in March.

to succeed Lord Beaverbrook as minister of aircraft production. Simultaneously, it was announced that Frederick James Leather, who had been adviser on coal to the ministry of shipping, had been appointed head both of the shipping and transport ministries which will be merged as speedily as possible under the title of ministry of wartime communications.

Ronald Cross, who had been minister of shipping, was appointed British high commissioner to Australia. The only other governmental changes announced were a trade in posts by Col. J. J. Llewellyn and Frederick Montague, Col. Llewellyn becoming parliamentary secretary to the minister of transport pending its merger with the shipping ministry, and Mr. Montague, parliamentary secretary to the aircraft production ministry.

These surprise changes appeared to be Mr. Churchill's reply in advance to some criticisms against the government expected in next week's debate in the House of Commons on the war.

May Fight Nazi Subs

Bombers Flying Across Atlantic Might Destroy Raiders

London.—Because the crews flying aircraft across the Atlantic frequently spot German submarines, the ministry of aircraft production may consider equipping the service to fight.

These big bombers and flying boats travel from Newfoundland to Britain in eight hours and 45 minutes.

It is reported that several ships have been saved from torpedo attack merely by these unarmed planes roaring down on half-submerged U-boats and causing them to crash dive.

It is thought by experts here that if the long-range planes, which easily have spanned the Atlantic with but one loss since October, were "bombed up" they would become valuable auxiliaries to the Royal Air Force and the navy's destroyers and corvettes in protecting Britain's supply line.

Defence Of Singapore

Enemy Will Find This Base A Hard Nut To Crack

Singapore.—Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, commander-in-chief of empire forces in the Far East, predicted in a press conference that any enemy attacking this naval base "would be in for a sticky time."

"Sober analysis of what we have and what the other side can bring against us makes me confident that any enemy would be in for a sticky time, whether they came from the land or from the sea," he told interviewers.

The Philippines, he said, "necessarily would be a big factor" in any spread of hostilities to the southern Pacific.

Eire Gets Warning

Nazis Object To People Helping Belfast After Air Raid

New York.—The BBC reported that German airplanes have dropped leaflets in Eire warning residents against helping extinguish incendiary-bomb fires in Northern Ireland. Referring to fire-fighting aid sent from neutral Eire to Belfast, Northern Ireland, after fires had been set by Nazi air raiders, BBC in a broadcast told Eire residents "if they tried this sort of thing again they might be given some fires of their own to be put out."

KING GEORGE II. OF GREECE

Put Up Brilliant Fight

Yugoslav Airmen Made Heroic Effort To Save Their Country

London.—A small band of Yugoslav airmen arriving in Moscow told a "heroic tale" of the brilliant fight put up by the Yugoslav air force during the German invasion, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported.

Counting only 100 "up-to-date" fighter aircraft in their entire force, the Yugoslavs made a "valiant attempt" to save their country and during the first day of fighting over Belgrade shot down 50 German aircraft, the BBC said. Their guns accounted for another 50 the following day.

"Finally," the BBC said, "the day arrived when only three planes and 30 airmen were left."

"Nevertheless, these fliers took on a formation of 40 Italian bombers and succeeded in shooting down nine of them."

Enemy Planes Destroyed

252 Axis Planes Downed In Middle East In April

London.—British and Imperial air fighters and ground defenses in the Middle East destroyed 252 Axis planes during April for a new record, the air ministry news service announced.

The largest toll was taken in the western desert, where 81 were shot down by fighters, 11 by anti-aircraft, and 31 were destroyed on the ground.

In Greece and Albania, the service said, the April toll was 65 Axis planes, 55 of them by fighters.

In East Africa the wrecks of 46 Axis planes were found by advancing troops. Eight others were shot down in this area and 10 were destroyed over Malta.

Britain's losses in the middle east for the month totalled 58. In many cases the pilots returned safely.

Bacon Price Increased

Raised To Packers By One Dollar To 100 Pounds

Ottawa. The average price of Canadian Wilshire sides (bacon and hams) under the agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom has been increased from 80 shillings to 85 shillings for 112 pounds. Agriculture Minister Gardner announced.

This action followed an announcement that the Canadian bacon board had increased its price to Canadian packers by $1.00 per 100 pounds.

Reports from Canadian livestock markets showed prices ranged from steady to as much as 35 cents increase for dressed hogs following the announcement.

In the first agreement between Canada and United Kingdom which took effect on Nov. 1, 1939, the price was 91 shillings one penny for 112 pounds. When the new agreement was negotiated last year the price was lowered to 80 shillings, one penny, having regard to the lower prices prevailing in the United States. At that time it was specified that U.S. prices jumped during the term covered by the agreement the United Kingdom prices would be subject to review so Canadian hog prices could be maintained close to those in United States.

Prices in United States for live hogs moved up sharply in recent months so there was a danger of Canadian hogs being shipped to United States over the duty of one cent a pound. The new Canadian prices are sufficiently high to keep most of the Canadian hogs in this country, officials state.

The 80-shilling rate worked out at an average according to grade of $15.82 per 100 pounds for Wilshire sides and the new rate is about $16.81.

King George Good Shot

Somewhere in the South of England.—The King fired a Tommy gun for the first time, riddling an image of the enemy with bullets. His Majesty fired four shots from the shoulder easily finding the heart of the target, and then shot from the waist, making most of his 17 shots count vitally.

Vessels Still Afloat

London.—A Yugoslav submarine and two Yugoslav motor torpedo boats have arrived at a British port, the admiralty announced. The Italians previously reported they had sunk them.

Escape Of Imperial Troops From Greece Makes Thrilling Story

With the British Expeditionary Force arrived at Cairo from Greece. British Imperial troops who fought the German invaders of Greece have come back to Egypt after the loss of perhaps 8,000 tanks and trucks and many first-line planes, a loss which they believed to be more than balanced by the far heavier German losses of similar equipment.

Most of the British tanks never got away from the Mount Olympus line where they were wrecked or destroyed after inflicting severe losses on the Germans.

The Royal Air Force saved most of its pilots, for the great German numerical superiority in the air enabled the Nazi fliers to bomb the R.A.F. planes to bits when they were on the ground and unoccupied. The British fliers estimated they had downed about 10 per cent. of the German planes, with a high toll of German pilots.

Here is the way the British troops escaped: Whole British battalions lay concealed beneath the trees by day as the soldiers waited for boats, and the German dive bombers searched vainly for them. By night the beaches were alive with men, the sea cluttered with boats. Every vessel that could pass muster was used and the greater part—48,000 of 60,000—got away.

Little material could be taken away but most of that which was left behind was destroyed. The Germans, when they reached the shore, found the woods full of wrecked vehicles, destroyed supplies.

British troops came down to the sea with their rifles, packs and machine-guns, and most of it was carried away with them. In the cases of bigger guns the breeches were torn off before they were abandoned.

Many trucks were merely rolled into the sea, others pitched over cliffs so the Germans could never use them. In some cases, hand grenades were used to destroy British vehicles; others were chopped to pieces with axes or set afire with gasoline.

With the R.A.F. having lost its forward air fields by the break through the Mount Olympus line and the Greeks near collapse for all their valiant struggle, the British commander decided on the afternoon of April 22 to pull out.

With a motley group of Australian troops, civilian refugees and 130 German prisoners, I left Piraeus on the last boat out of that port of Athens. Our little boat, jammed with nearly 1,000 persons, left the harbor at night, shortly before midnight, and got clear just as the Germans bombed the port for the fourth time in 24 hours.

Piraeus already was a jungle of broken and twisted wreckage when we left, threading our way through channels strewn with German airborne mines.

Arriving at Crete by noon, we found our port there under steady German and Italian air attack. I saw one ship go down in seven minutes, but our own was not touched.

Going ashore, we learned that King George II. of Greece, the premier and the royal household had arrived in Crete in a British plane April 23.

The problem of British troops in Greece was complicated by the fact that Greece had only two harbors with facilities for unloading heavy British materials. These were Piraeus, adjoining Athens, and Salonika.

Salonika fell early into German hands, and Piraeus was quickly wrecked by German bombs.

This prevented landing of any more effective aid, and it was decided to withdraw the British expeditionary forces with their comparatively low casualties up to that time—much lower than they had inflicted on the Germans—rather than try to continue holding back a German force of at least 30 divisions (300,000 or more men, against the British 60,000).

"There is today a tendency toward standardization of thought and feeling, influenced by the fact that we live in an age of the machine." —Leopold Stokowski.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE departure of young men of the R.A.A.F. and the R.C.A.F. on Monday afternoon for the east brings forcibly to mind that Canada and the Dominions of the British Commonwealth are playing a vital part in building up Britain's air fleet to overcome the terroristic forces of Hitlerism. It is tragic that young men of all nations should be sacrificed to the rapacious maw of war, yet if we are to enjoy the standard of life we believe to be the best in the world, we must steel our hearts and minds to a continuance of the sacrifice till victory is ours. Men who fought in Great War I and even earlier wars now see younger men going off to war. They recall the thrill it gave them as they set out on what they then regarded as high adventure, when bands played "Auld Lang Syne" and "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and troop transports sailed from Britain's shores without the danger of being submarined or bombed from the air. War was a gentleman's game then compared to the present methods, when nobody is safe from attack by sea, air or land, and civilians are in the battle front equally as much as soldiers of the line. It has ever been necessary to defend the right, or become enslaved. Terrible though the toll is in human life and wrecked homes, it is the price that must be paid to assure a continuance of the democratic way of life. To suffer defeat is to become enslaved under the iron heel of dictatorship and totalitarianism, whereby all the finer things of life as we have known it would become blotted out.

THE broadcasts of Prime Minister Churchill and Hitler are heard around the world. Churchill does not attempt to minimize the gravity of conditions affecting the Empire, and the people would rather know the black side than be flim-flammed. It brings home the realization that victory will be attained only by united effort on the part of ALL the people. Those working in offices, factories, fields and mines all have a part to play in reinforcing the Empire's resources to the limit. Churchill spoke the truth when, on assuming office, he stated: "I bring you toil, blood, tears and sweat." Out of it the British Commonwealth people are confident that victory will ensue.

PROPAGANDA such as Hitler broadcasts is far from the truth. His armies have overrun Europe, he has accomplished the subjugation of most of the nations, with the might of his military machine, yet it recalls the Biblical phrase: "What availeth it if a man gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" He stated "The Reich and its allies represent in military, economic, and, above all, moral aspects, a force which is superior to any possible coalition in the world," evidently referring indirectly to the co-operation which the United States is giving to Britain. History has a peculiar way of repeating itself, and often have Hitler's triumphs in Europe been compared to those of Napoleon, who in his day was just as cocksure that France's domination would endure. But in a few short years his conquest counted for nought, because his power was broken by Britain. It must be remembered that while Britain followed a policy of appeasement and wishful thinking by setting an example in world disarmament, Hitler continued to build up a military machine to conquer Europe. He made it his boast that a country which was not able to fight for or defend its independence did not deserve to remain independent, and this view he has followed up by brutally smashing the smaller European nations, and the same fate would have fallen Britain had it not been for the might of the Navy, the Royal Air Force, and the British Channel, combined with the determination of the British people that never would they allow an invader to gain a foothold.

As far as Hitler's allies are concerned, and of whom he boasted in his Sunday broadcast, this is simply lying, for his only ally, it can be so-called, is Italy, and that country is now German controlled, for it could not stand by itself, as the war has proved in its African retreats and in Albania. His other "allies" are conquered Norway, Denmark, Holland, France, and the Balkan countries. How long they will remain submissive only time will tell.

COAL AND THE WEST

An editorial in The Alberian, Calgary, of interest to Mining District in Crows Nest Pass Coalfields

The Wartime Economic Coal Commission has recently released a pamphlet, dealing with the importance of a national coal policy that will result in the use of Canadian coal by Canadian people. Much of the material presented is not new, but nonetheless requires restating, not once but many times, in view of the importance coal assumes during wartime.

Figures make dreary reading, so we will content ourselves by remarking the Committee reveals that for every dollar the government spends in assisted freight on coal going from west to east, five dollars appear in the hands of consumers. That is very important.

But it is not all. Exchange being against us, by using our own coal, we save for each dollar the government expends. Here is an example:

By moving 650,000 tons of coal the government will spend $1,625,000 in subventions. The mines would gain $2,551,250 in business—railways would gain $5,200,000

—a total of $7,751,250. In addition we would save $6,575,726 in exchange.

We are moving toward the time when 50 percent of income will be required for government needs. It is fair that the government should use its power to increase income where possible, and reasonable to ask that payments in depreciated dollars should be avoided, as in the case of coal, needlessly. We need exchange for other purposes, so it makes little difference to the United States. But it makes a great difference to us.

The very backbone of prosperity in Canada lies in inter-provincial trade. A cash market all the year round exists for coal and oil from Alberta—the credits we acquire are expended largely in purchasing goods from other provinces. Hence consumers of Alberta coal in Ontario find their dollars speeding back to them since Ontario made goods are purchased here. The consumption of goods creates a demand for more. That in turn spells employment for men and women. Both money and commodities are similar to an endless chain—they keep going round and round. If we break that chain, as we do when we buy coal from the United States, the whole business structure suffers.

While this is a political matter, it is beyond party. Every member of parliament ought to be ready to assist in the development of what will eventually be a great Canadian industry, having a bearing on our national welfare. While, at the moment, we apply the principle to coal, it is well to remember it may be applied to other industries and may play a prominent part in the future course of this dominion.

The committee is to be commended for its contribution to this highly-important matter.

FUNCTION OF PRESS

This is one of a series of editorials specially designed to acquaint our readers with the various functions of the Press in a democratic community.

THE PRESS AND PROPAGANDA

ONE OF the ever present dangers in the publishing field is the possibility of becoming a propaganda agency for some group or cause. Editors guard carefully against this possibility, and their efforts to be fair sometimes incur the displeasure of those whose propaganda they refuse to propagate. Of course there are two kinds of propaganda—good and bad. The word propaganda has been much abused in the past few years and to the man on the street propaganda now seems to mean exclusively that type of news sent out by the enemy to confuse and confound those who read it.

Propaganda is actually the method adopted for the propagation of doctrines and principles, either religious or secular. If there is such a thing as good propaganda the question naturally arises, why does the newspaper not become a propaganda agency for all propaganda that is good? As a matter of fact the newspaper does become such an agency in a broad sense, but not in just the way that some propagandists would have it. For instance, any religious sect might consider its propaganda good, and therefore entitled to space in the newspaper. An important factor is overlooked however in this reasoning. Propaganda espoused and supported by a newspaper must be of a type generally beneficial to the community as a whole. It would not be fair or ethical to use the propaganda of one church, where there are perhaps half a dozen churches in the same community.

Then too, there is often confusion in the minds of many people as to what is news and what is propaganda. For instance, an item relating to an actual event which took place in a church, or a lodge, or a service club would be news. On the other hand an item which sought to impress the reader with the principles or the doctrine of the organization would be propaganda. In short propaganda is that type of newsmatter which seeks to proselytize or convert the reader to one particular code of ethics, principles or doctrine.

The position of the newspaper is clear on this point. The newspaper is representative of the whole community, and while its editor or publisher might be an Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, United Churchman, or Roman Catholic, it would not be fair to give undue prominence to the doctrines of the sect to which he personally belongs. News is another matter. If more news comes from the United Church because it has more organizations, or because its press secretaries are more wide awake, then naturally that church would receive more space in the paper than the Anglican or Baptist if those churches were not so well organized or did not possess good press secretaries.

Weekly newspapers depend to a very large extent upon correspondents and press secretaries for news items, and this being the case it is timely to remind correspondents and secretaries that the newspaper is interested primarily in the news, and not in acting as an agency for the dissemination of their principles. This reasoning however does not preclude the newspaper drawing attention to any special effort made by any organization or institution within the community.

To sum up the attitude of the press toward propaganda it should be clearly understood that the press is interested in the events concerning organizations, rather than the ethics or principles which attract one to membership in these groups.

SCALPOLED YOKES TRIM FROCK By Anne Adams

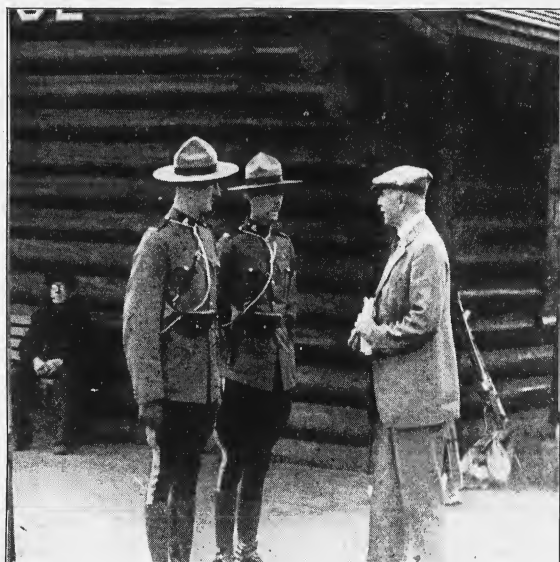

Did you know that this season it's SMART to be pretty? Anne Adams emphasizes this fact nicely in her Pattern 4733 becoming easy-to-sew frock. Wouldn't it be lovely in a flower or leaf-sprigged print? The open diagram view shows you how simple the cutting and stitching is. See the front bodice is in-one with the skirt panel, and the back is in plain panelled style. High-curved side skirt sections give a tiny-waisted, slim-hipped look and hold up the gathered fullness of the soft bodice. Those scalloped yokes are gay and spirited, and they hold gathering below, too. Let the belt go all around, or have it just tie in front. And you might add refreshing ruffles or colorful braid for trim. Hurry—send your order in today.

Pattern 4733 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40. Size 16 takes 3½ yards 39 inch.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Can Get Letters Through

Personal Postal Messages To Enemy And Enemy-Occupied Countries May Be Sent

The Honourable W. P. Mulock, K.C., Postmaster General, announces that arrangements have been made by the Canadian Post Office Department for a system of Personal Postal Messages to facilitate the sending of brief messages between persons in Canada and relatives and friends in enemy and enemy-occupied countries, including Germany, Austria, Italy, Czechoslovakia, German occupied Poland, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, occupied France and the Channel Islands.

Such messages are to be written on an Official form and are to be confined to simple messages not exceeding 20 words which are purely personal in character relating to family news or enquiry as to the well-being of the addressee or his relatives and friends. Nothing of a political, economic or military character is permitted. Messages should be written in block letters and, if possible, should be in English, French or German.

The messages will be transmitted through the intermediary of the International Red Cross Committee at Geneva, Switzerland, on the special official forms which may be obtained through any postmaster.

The fee for a Personal Postal Message is 2c which pays postage to final destination as well as postage from Geneva to Canada on the addressee's reply.

Air mail and passenger service will be established between Chungking, China, and Calcutta, India.

Antidote For Pessimism

Visitor From England Scorns Suggestion That Britain Would Be Defeated

Best antidote for war pessimism, in our experience at any rate, is to talk to an Englishman. An Englishman just out from England.

We talked to one this week. He was a business man. He had been torpedoed once. He had experienced many bombings. But he spoke of all these things in such a low, matter-of-fact voice that he made us almost ashamed. We asked him if he thought England could be defeated by prolonged bombings. His reply, spoken softly, was as though he thought we were being a bit ridiculous but was too polite to say so. In other words, he made us feel we were talking nonsense and that he was surprised we should be doing so.

We came away from this Englishman feeling a lot stouter. Certainly he convinced us that 40,000,000 people of his kind, so quietly confident without being at all boastful, couldn't be made to quit if the bombs kept raining upon them. The thing just wouldn't occur to them. Ottawa Journal.

Have Pleasant Dreams

Sleeping Hours Of London Children Not Disturbed By Nightmares

The boys and girls of wartime London have dreams of thrilling deeds by the Royal Air Force and of fairyland; seldom nightmares induced by fear, a clinical study disclosed.

Dreams of 250 children of a Paddington school were analyzed and Headmaster J. W. Rudcock reported the following results:

Only nine boys dreamed of such things as burglars, ghosts and lions. Twenty girls had nightmares of German parachutists. The remainder had pleasant dreams, the boys of the knights of the air; the girls of fairies and "evacuation to romantic homes."

Only a few dreamed about food, which Rudcock asserted "indicates there is no shortage of food."

"The dreams show that the children treat the worst dangers objectively, even defiantly," he said. "Such incidents as leaving their homes because of time bombs they take in their stride, much like paying a visit to an aunt."

Coal From The Sea

Folk of the district of Kirkcaldy, Scotland, stocked their homes with tons of sea coal that was washed ashore from war wrecks, carrying it away in perambulators, go-carts, barrows—anything on wheels.

A fighting plane that climbs more than 5,000 feet upward in one minute is among American war products.

A total of 90,000 vehicles for military purposes have been sent from Canada to the British Empire at war.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 11

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE HOME REGARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

Golden text: Train up a child in the way he should go, And even when he is old he will not depart from it. Proverb 22:6.

Lesson: Deuteronomy 6:4-7; Jeremiah 35:5-10.

Devotional reading: Psalm 78:17.

Explanations and Comments

Train Up a Child is the Way He Should Go, Deuteronomy 6:4-7. The Bible teaches from beginning to end the fact of one God. Where did the writers get this idea? Certainly not from the nations around them. Herodotus informs us that 500 B.C. there were in Egypt more gods than men. In India there are not fewer than three hundred million false gods. The Persians worship almost everything associated with light or fire. The fields, groves, and cities of Greece were full of imaginary deities. And yet all the Bible writers for fifteen hundred years taught that there is only one God (A. C. Dixon).

And thou shalt love Jehovah thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. These phrases are intended to include every faculty of man. Jesus called them "the first and great commandment": see Mt. 22:37-40; Mk 12:29-31.

And Even When He is Old He Will Not Depart From It, Jeremiah 35:10. The Rechabites were descendants of the Kenites, that tribe which had journeyed with the Israelites in the wilderness life described in Exodus. Their leader in the time of Elijah or Elisha was Jonadab, the son of Rechab. Jonadab was so disturbed by the corruption in Israel that he had his people take a solemn pledge that they would drink no wine forever. Another thing to which he pledged them was that they always dwell in tents, away from the cities. In the time when Nebuchadnezzar was threatening Judah, this tribe pitched their tents in the open space within the city walls for greater security.

Their presence gave the prophet Jeremiah an opportunity for an excellent object lesson. He invited them into one of the rooms that ranged about the temple courts, which we may assume were open to the court, since Jeremiah's "lesson" would have been lost on the people had they not been spectators of the scene. Jeremiah then had bowls full of wine set before them, using the large vessels from which the wine was drunk and poured into cups. They bade them drink. This was a sure test of their principles, for it was the great prophet himself who ordered them to drink.

"We will drink no wine," they stoutly answered, as they told him of the pledge which they and their people before them had always kept.

Decline Of Saluting

Less Saluting In Britain When Men Are Off Duty

Dominion troops have never been overaddicted to saluting, and judging from what one sees in London streets British troops—sailors and airmen too—are taking a similar view of what is necessary of the parade-ground to compare to today's customs with that of the first months of war is to come to the conclusion that the British Army, meandering from precedent to precedent, is gently approaching the position formally established in the United States Army, that there shall be no saluting save on duty.

I chanced to stand at a Piccadilly bus stop beside a lieutenant-colonel. Twelve "other ranks" passed him, ten soldiers and two airmen. Not one saluted. The only salute he received was given by the only officer who passed, a major, a man, that is, of the next highest rank to his own. The lieutenant-colonel seemed surprised neither by the punctiliousness of the one nor by the unconcern of the twelve.

The incident confirmed a general impression of what obtains in London nowadays, elsewhere at any rate than in Whitehall, which remains something of a parade-ground in its own right. Manchester Guardian.

Journey Is Long

It is possible in England to write to a friend in Holland via Portugal. Charge half a crown and Cook's do the rest. No watermark is allowed on paper, no printed address, and only personal affairs allowed to be mentioned. Letters usually take three months.

Very Old Expression

Maybe everything is still in "apple pie order." If so, it should be remembered that this slang expression was used in writings by Scott as early as 1813.

There are 166 members of the House of Lords serving with the armed forces.

Babies in some sections of Guiana are buried waist deep in sand so that they will be kept out of mischief.

FLU EPIDEMIC

Ever since the time of Hippocrates (400 B.C.) huge tides of flu have washed the world. These epidemics have not always run in cycles of 20 years. In modern times the span between them seems to be about three decades. A wave of flu inundated Europe and the North American continent during the 1830s. There were others in 1847, 1889 and the greatest scourge of the kind in history occurred just after the last war in 1918-19, which killed more than 20 millions of people all over the world and more than half a million in the United States and Canada.

The cause is a number of mysterious germs only one group of which, the influenza virus A was identified seven years ago. This virus is now rampant on the Pacific Coast.

Under mild and smiling skies, an epidemic of influenza flared recently in California, swept into Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico. Fortunately the visitation was a mild one. The victims had only slight fever, sniffles, headaches, sore limbs, backache and a tight feeling in the chest. Los Angeles had 50,000 cases with but 70 deaths, most of these being due to terminal pneumonia. The school with over 700 pupils had about 29 per cent. of the children ill, but very properly the school staff carried on. Half the pretty girls of Hollywood were sick in bed—the proper place for them. Sixteen members of the University of Southern California Football team were put out of business. Hospital staffs were sadly depleted. Men in training camps to the number of 1,400 were down with flu.

Dr. Horsfall, Jr., of the Rockefeller Institute has made a vaccine from influenza Virus A, and the virus which causes distemper in dogs. He hopes that it will confer immunity for at least three months from all types of flu.

Gardening

Gardeners are advised to divide their vegetable seeds into at least three parts, sowing a third as soon as the weather permits a third later, and the balance at the very tail-end of the planting season. In this way if frost does cut down the first batch there will be more plants coming on and the season will be lengthened by the last part of the garden sown. Of course there are some exceptions to this general rule. One should not plant outside tender things like tomatoes, peppers, melons, etc., until danger of frost is over.

Sow Grass Early

Grass seeds (a mixture of clover and timothy) in the cool weather of spring and fall. On this season lawn work of a new or repair nature should be carried out just as soon as the soil is fit to work.

After digging, the ground should be allowed to settle for a few days at least, and then levelled again. It is advisable to repeat this process several times. The top soil should then be raked fine and on a windless day the grass sown at a liberal rate, once across and once lengthwise. This double sowing insures an even distribution. It is always best to get a good mixture of high quality grass seed blended by expert Canadian seedsmen.

Good Tools Help

A few handy tools and a little knowledge regarding the handling of soils will eliminate all the drudgery in gardening. There is no need whatever for constant digging in sticky soil. In fact no soil should remain sticky very long after a real gardener takes it over.

Experts advise one thorough digging or spading in the late fall or spring, or if the lot is a large one it will be better to get it plowed. Just before either operation, if the ground is poor it is a splendid idea to have some good rotted manure turned under. After this spading or plowing it will only be necessary to cultivate fine with a rake. One thorough cultivation like this once a year should keep the soil in shape and permit one to carry on easily with a small hand cultivator, or Dutch hoe. Either of these inexpensive tools can be operated without bending the back and both will be sufficient to keep the soil stirred and the weeds down during the remainder of the season.

Ballroom dancing has been introduced in Russian military preparatory school as part of a physical culture program.

WHEN DEATH WON THE RACE

In the above photo-diagram, fifth in the series published by this paper in its campaign for safety at the railway crossing, is shown one of the 346 crashes which cost 133 lives in Canada last year. As in most of the cases this accident occurred at an open crossing, protected by safety devices, and in daylight. Had the driver stopped at the crossing it could not have happened. Four hundred and eighty-five persons were injured in 1940 in railway crossing accidents, in addition to those killed, and in almost every case elementary safety precautions would have averted tragedy. Stop, look and listen at the railway crossings, where a lost race is often fatal.

DAUGHTER OF DESTINY

—BY—
Eleanor Atterbury Colton

CHAPTER V.

Fingers of hot desert sunshine had already begun to poke into Devona's own bedroom when she awakened next morning. In her first sleepy confusion she couldn't remember where she was. Then, with a rush, it all came back—this lovely room, this whole beautiful house, her mother Dale!

Then she opened her eyes wide, sat up. Or was it behind her? Gradually yesterday's sense of insecurity would simultaneously through her thoughts. She mustn't stay here, they said. Yet—

She shrugged fear aside, slipped out of bed. It was too glorious a morning to be afraid of anything.

Shrugging out of her webby nightgown, Devona found the blue bathing suit new last time that she and Dad had spent a lovely lazy holiday at Naples. Flinging a wide beach cape over one arm, she slipped out into the silent, deserted hallway.

At the foot of the stairs a stealthy sound stopped her. Footsteps. Some one else awake early this gorgeous morning! She waited, listening to silence for a moment. Then, slowly, silently a side door opened. A man stepped softly into the hall, closed the door noiselessly behind him.

His gray hair was pulled close over his eyes, but he turned now. She could see his face. Slanting eyes in a yellow face. Wong! She felt her heart beat again. Only Wong! Smiling at her own fright, she watched him slip across the main hall down the corridor to the servants' quarters.

By why—the question pursued her—at 6 in the morning, when all the house was taking a well-earned rest, was Wong abroad?

Then, with a shrug, she dismissed the problem. After all, what her mother's servants did was certainly none of her affair.

The first plunge into clear, green-blue water took her breath away. Then gave it back as she struck out smoothly. It had been one of the few sports Dad approved. Dipping under water, she swam the length of the pool, then floated herself gracefully on to the tiled edge.

"Hello. What gets you out so early?" Dale's voice just behind her. Startled, she smiled up at him. "Oh—lovely morning, lovely pool."

"And a lovely girl, if I may say so." His blue eyes teased.

"Thank you, sir." She pulled off her cap, ran her fingers through the tangle of dark curls until she could control the thrill that chased through her. When she did look up she saw he was dressed in business gray, that he carried a bulging briefcase. "Are you—leaving?"

"Yes. No rest for the wicked. I've a case in court tomorrow. I've got to do some ground work on it."

"Oh, I'm sorry," and some of the glory went out of the morning.

"So am I. I'd like nothing better than to race you—two pool's lengths."

"I'd beat you," she challenged.

"Not if I had to drown you first! Suppose we postpone it until next!"

"Through high school youngsters. These runners plant a persuasive chap where the kids hang out and before you know it you've got a bunch of marijuana-smoking boys making trouble and raising hell."

"But— isn't it dangerous," Devona persisted earnestly. "There must be plenty of money to fight a drive like yours. The men who are getting off this racket will surely resent what you're doing."

Dale laughed abruptly. "Resent is

She swam the length of the pool twice, then climbed gracefully onto the tiled edge. "Hello. What gets you out so early?" came Dale's voice over her shoulder week-end, same time, same place? You on?"

"I'm on."

"Good. You're practically beaten now," and gave her his hand as she stepped from the tiled pool's edge to the green lawn.

"What's your case about?" she asked just to give herself time to put a checkrein on her own wild hopes. She was not making a very auspicious beginning on this plan of hers to prove she was adult when Dale's first flippant compliment turned her face into a sunset sky!

The blue eyes went grave. "Dope running, as usual. This one in itself isn't so important. But it's paving the way for a big catch."

"You mean—"

"I mean we've got a tricky problem on our hands. It's going to take some time and some good luck to solve it." He propped the heavy brief case against a lawn chair while he lit a cigarette. "We thought we had this thing scotched a year ago. Now there's a new twist somewhere."

"How do you know?"

hardly the word for it. They winged the boss the last time we raided."

"Shot him!"

"Sure. Just like in the movies. Only difference was we didn't catch the guy that did it." He hoisted the heavy case into the coupe and opened the door.

"MIDDLE-AGE" WOMEN

HEED THIS ADVICE!!

Thousands of women gossaming thru "living times" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—famous for over 60 years in relieving female troubles. Try it!

"Oh, Dale, you must be careful." Her imagination leaped ahead tortuously. "What if—"

Dale looked down at her a long moment. "What if—what?"

I mean—maybe next time, they'll get—you."

"Maybe." He grinned. "Would you care?"

Devona's glance went down before the teasing challenge in his. "Certainly. It seems ridiculous to take chances."

"Don't worry. I don't. I'm supposed to solve this problem. Not make another by letting them use me for a target!" He climbed into the car, slammed the door. "That's why I have friends like Jose Macias. He keeps me posted on—well, lots of things."

"I see." Devona smiled, remembered, not without apprehension, the dark violence in Macias' handsome black eyes.

"Be careful, won't you." She tried to hide real concern behind a jaunty little smile. "I need you—for moral support, you know."

"Look here." His eyes went grave again. "Don't let any one get you down, will you?"

"Why do you say that?"

"They could hurt you without half trying. You see, you're—well, different. They'll probably hate you for it at first."

"Hate me! But why?"

"Because you're beautiful and young and—untamable."

"But—I don't understand—"

He laughed then. A short, sharp little sound. "Of course, you don't. And I'm probably being an old aunt about the whole business. Just don't worry. I'll see you next week-end."

Devona nodded. "Good-bye now!"

"Bye."

She watched the blue car turn out of the cool shadowy cavern the palms built around the drive, out into the white highway beyond. At the corner he waved once, then disappeared.

Slowly she turned back toward the house. As she did, she saw a white coat disappear behind a clump of blazing poinsettia blossoms. A moment later Wong slipped through a side door into the house.

Wong again! Devona shuddered. Always tip-toeing around, turning up at the oddest moments. Had he, she wondered as she went on into the house, been eavesdropping behind that bush all the time? Asiatics were a curious race. But surely Wong must have seen casual flirtations before now!

She dressed quickly—a simple, yellow linen with a trail of brown buttons from throat to hem. She'd begin learning to-day. She'd make Yara Vadine proud to be her mother. She had to! A little sob snagged in her throat. She had to—

Then a tap at her door, Wong's voice just outside, Telephone for Miss Raebourne!

"Thank you, Wong."

Puzzled, Devona followed him down the corridor to the little phone booth tucked behind an ornamental wrought-iron gate. Who could be calling her?

"Hello."

"Devona?"—an already familiar voice.

"Oh!" Her own voice faltered to a whisper.

"Hello! Are you there?"

"Yes. Yes, Dale. I'm here."

"I just wanted to ask you not to mention the name of the person I was talking to you about just before I left."

The words came crisp and clear across the wire.

"You mean—Mr.—" She caught back the name just in time. "Oh, I won't."

"It's rather important things like that don't get around. I should have warned you. Not that I think there's any danger out there. Still, it's better to be on the safe side."

"Of course. And do be careful."

"Right. See you later. Bye."

"Bye."

Mechanically she replaced the receiver, opened the door to the little booth. It must be strange, nerve-racking business—this work of Dale's. To be so careful, so constantly on guard.

Thoughtfully, she went back to her room. As she closed the door behind her, a short, black-haired figure in a white servant's jacket, slipped out of a hall closet, disappeared away.

noiselessly down the servant's stair—

Plans Are Well-Meant

But Paderewski Answers Hoover's Idea To Feed Europe

An American correspondent reports that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt met Paderewski in Florida a few days ago and discussed with him the future of Poland. Poland is suffering a great deal more than any part of France. Germany is carrying out systematically almost the greatest crime in history, that of deliberately trying to destroy the entire Polish race by a process of starvation, shooting of the men and other means.

"Do you think," Mrs. Roosevelt asked "we should send food to Poland?" "It is difficult to make a decision concerning my countrymen," Paderewski replied, and then after meditation, he added: "But nothing should be done to disturb the British blockade."

Paderewski has given the answer to Mr. Hoover's well-meaning but misguided plans to feed the peoples who are under Hitler's rule, and therefore, are his responsibility.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Invention By Blind Man

Gadget Operated By Electricity Tells Denomination Of Bills

A news item from Ottawa says they will have to rewrite that old phrase about "stealing money from a blind man" if the idea of 27-year-old George LaFleur of suburban Overbrook is put into general practice.

LaFleur, himself blind, has invented an automatically-controlled device that can be plugged into any electric light socket and which enables the operator to tell by means of electrical impulses the denomination of any bills placed in the machine.

A little black box about 10 inches square and five inches deep, the device is an adaptation of the photo-electric cell. It was produced by LaFleur in collaboration with John H. Hewson of Ottawa, expert on electrical sound devices.

LaFleur hopes to display his invention at the Canadian National Exhibition this fall.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

GOOD EVER OBTAINABLE

Because you lack a noble and successful past, is no real reason why you should lack a noble and successful future.—Thomas Dreier.

The law of nature is, Do the thing, and you shall have the power; but they who do not the thing have not the power.—Emerson.

Faith in divine Love supplies the ever-present help and now, and gives the power to "act in the living present."—Mary Baker Eddy.

Look upon every day as the whole of life, not merely as a section; and enjoy and improve the present without wishing, through haste, to rush on to another.—Richter.

The present is never our object; the past and the present we use as means; the future only is our end. Thus we never live, we only hope to live.—Pascal.

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow or turning.—New Testament: James 1: 17.

Carried Strange Address

But British Post Office Delivered Letter To Proper Person

A letter from New York addressed to "Miss Jane Moore, Southeast coast of England, whose home is nearest enemy—a bit of land that juts out into the sea, England," was delivered to Miss Joan Moore, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Moore of Capel, near Folkestone.

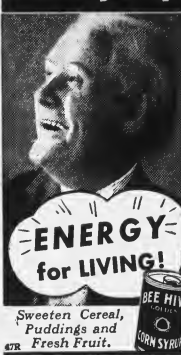

A picture of Miss Moore feeding chickens in her garden near a crashed German airplane was reproduced in a New York newspaper. Miss Frances Simmonds of New York saw it and wrote a letter ending, "Keep your chin up, fingers crossed." The picture caption didn't give Miss Moore's address. But the post office eventually traced her from the address on Miss Simmonds' letter.

Nazis Confiscate Children's Food

German authorities in Warsaw have confiscated (a) herrings, sausages and meats prepared for feeding children in the holidays, and (b) 15,000 pounds of lard, sausages and meat in the central stock-house of the Metropolitan Committee of Social Assistance. The latter food had been offered as gifts for the asylums supported by the Metropolitan Committee serving the poorest class of the people.

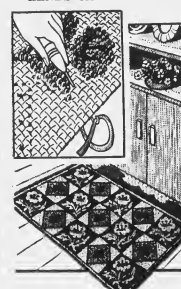

India's flying clubs have trained nearly 1,000 army pilots in 10 years.

HOME SERVICE

NEW ENGLAND HOOKED RUG LENDS CHARM TO A ROOM

Simple and Inexpensive to Make

A hooked rug gives your home such a warm, intimate air! And you can hook this charming design easily. Use any material you have on hand (though woolen is best) and as for colors—the more the merrier! Lovely together are rose, green, black, beige, orchid.

How to begin? On a large piece of burlap draw the shape of the rug, 23 by 37 inches. Then draw a 1-inch border and rule off 15 boxes, each 7 inches square. The floral and geometric designs you draw from patterns.

Now, after sewing carpet binding round your rug and tacking to a wood frame, you can hook.

With one hand, hold a strip of fabric (cut 1/2 inch wide) under the rug. With the other hand thrust the hook through the burlap and pull up the strip, leaving a loop 1/2 inch high on top of the burlap. Carefully following your color scheme, hook the same way until the rug is finished.

Our 32-page booklet gives exact instructions and patterns for making a hooked rug. Also tells how to make other lovely hooked styles, as well as woven, braided, knitted, tufted and crocheted rugs.

Send 15 cents in coins for your copy of "How to Make Your Own Rug" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg, Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

The following booklets are also available at 15c each:

- 164—"Party Games For All Occasions"
- 183—"Self-Instruction in Short-hand"
- 184—"Develop Correct Tennis Form"
- 171—"How to Plant and Care for Your Garden"
- 162—"Public Speaking Self-Taught."

Used In Finland

Cattle Fodder Is Made From Ordinary Pine Wood Pulp

A new cellulose cattle fodder has been put on the open market in Finland. Called "pine oats" it is made from ordinary pine wood pulp and is similar in nutritive value to oats. Due to the poor harvest last year and the import difficulties the Finns have turned to this new artificial feed for their stock. It is a maintenance diet only being mixed with natural feeds for best results.

The world's largest known copper deposit, in Chile, is estimated to contain 700,000,000 tons of ore.

The United States now imports more than 70 per cent. of its newsprint, chiefly from Canada.

Modern farm machinery is used on only a few farms in Manchuria.

RANDOM RHYMES

(By Chris Casual in the Lethbridge Herald)
This is a song to the girls they call "Cats"
With their black cotton stockings and little wedge hats.
Some folks don't like women to wear uniform

But my feeling for them is exceedingly warm.
They turn out to lectures, they turn out to drill,
Preparing themselves with the utmost good will.
For the time that will come when a call will be made
To Canadian women to give all-out aid.
They like to be praised but they stand up to blame.
Topnotchers, I call those who rate that last claim.
They can stand in line for a couple of hours

Though their feet be unwilling to say it with flowers.
And perhaps you have gathered, I've more than a hunch
That the "Cats" in our town are a marvellous bunch.
